

Long Wharf's New Haven Play Project culminates in 2 shows June 28 & 30

By Joe Amarante Published 10:13 am EDT, Friday, June 28, 2019

IMAGE 1 OF 3

Community participants show enthusiasm for the New Haven Play Project.

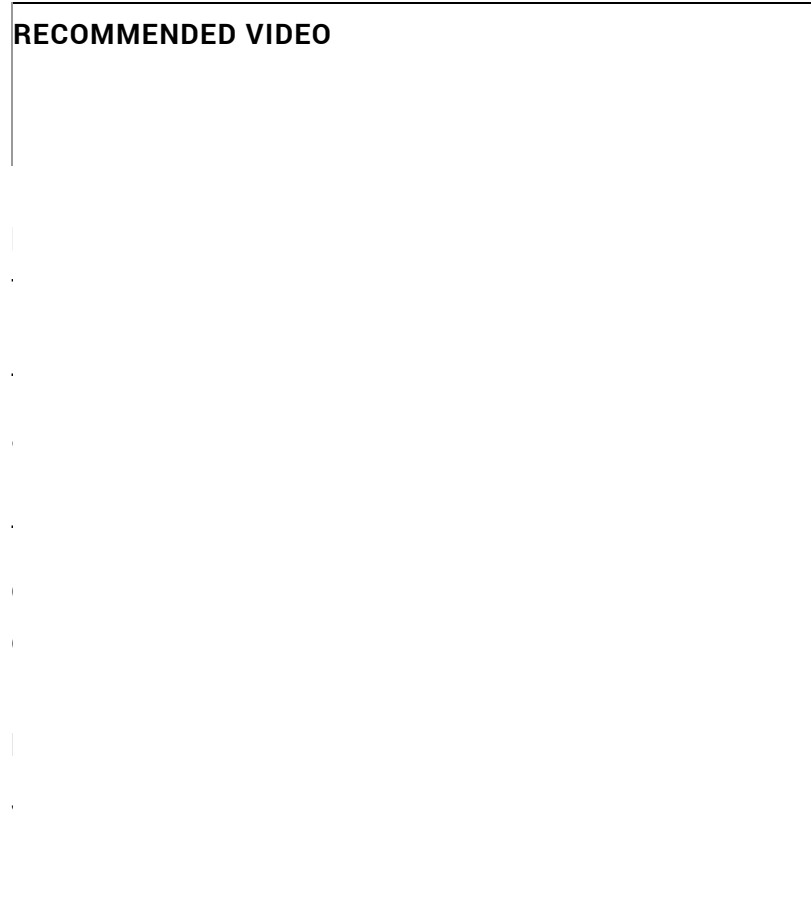

---

The New Haven Play Project culminates in two productions at Long Wharf Theatre Friday and Sunday, June 28 and 30 – the plays echoing Artistic Director Jacob Padrón's stated goal for the theater to be an anchor of “radical inclusion” in the community.

The plays are the result of months of theater workshops, writing sessions and storytelling events, says a Long Wharf release – specifically with partners Connecticut Mental Health Center & Foundation, The Towers senior community, Integrated Refugee and Immigrant Services and the New Haven Free Public Library.

---

RECOMMENDED VIDEO

Says Padrón in a release,
“We at Long Wharf Theatre
are committed to building
meaningful and lasting work that goes into supporting directed by Elizabeth Nearing,

ing and Sharece Sellem.

passes will be available at
New Haven library cardholders

lay, June 28, p.m.; Sunday,
org

nc.

-----